

APA DOCUMENTATION STYLE: REFERENCE LIST

(Based on the 6th edition of APA Publication Manual)

An APA-style reference list contains complete publication information from the resources you cited in your paper, alphabetized by the author's last name. Using standard formats for your entries enhances your credibility with academic readers, and alphabetizing your list helps fellow researchers quickly locate the sources that you refer to in the body of your text. For more information, visit <http://flash1r.apa.org/apastyle/basics/index.htm>

APA-style reference lists are double-spaced, with one-inch margins all around. Entries are alphabetical by author, or if no author, by title. Every entry begins flush left; additional lines are indented 5 spaces.

Note that in general

- Authors' names are in reverse order;
- Only the first letters of authors' first names are given;
- If seven authors or fewer, list them all. For more than seven authors, use ellipsis points after first six, then list the last author.
- "and" is written as "&"
- Only the first title word (& the first sub-title word after the colon, if title has a colon) is capitalized.
- Use para. when citing a paragraph number.
- Do not include personal communications in the reference list. Cite them in text only.

Important:

- In electronic references, DOI is first choice, journal home page as second choice, and database home page as third choice.
- Articles or books with a DOI no longer need a database name.
- To avoid errors, try copying and pasting the DOI into reference.
- Always provide issue number (if available) following volume number.
